'The Last of the Mohicans'

A horse can't pull while kicking.
This fact is merely mentioned;
And he can't kick while pulling.
Which is the chief contention.
Let's imitate the good old horse,
And lead a life that's fitting—
Just pull an honest load, and then There'll be no time for kicking.

BEARCATS AT CANMORE

Through a five-two victory over the Gleichen Gunners on Tuesday evening, the Canmore Briquetees elected to meet Blairmore Bearcats at Canmore tonight in the provincial intermediate hockey finals.

The Bearcats left for Calgary and Canmore by Thursday afternoon's train.

The Coleman Canadians in the senior hockey tilt will clash with the Edmonton Dominions in the best two out of three games at Calgary Saturday night and Monday.

Pass fans are keenly interested in both these play-offs.

The following is the personnel of the Briquetees: Kazimer, Wardrap, Krizan, MacPherson, Sandrelli, Anderson, Kaleta, M. Glosowski, J. Glos-owski and Sheilani.

Gusty Gustason, acknowledged as one of the foremost hockey players in Alberta today, suffered a rather serious injury in a game on Monday night against the Edmonton Dominions.
In spite of his injuries, on recovering consciousness, Gusty announced that he would still be in the game to the finish of the season. In the Big-Six hockey league, Gusty has maintained position as highest individual scorer. He will likely have a say against Coleman yet.

IN LOVING MEMORY

In loving memory of Mary Jane
Harrison, who died February 29th, 1936, at Blairmore, Alberta.

"We do not fret;
But can't forget;
The one we loved so well."
"Truly blessed is the station,
Low before His cross to lie,
While I see divine compassion
Beaming from His gracious eye."
Ever remembered by her husband, William Harrison, and Son and Daughters.

JOHN MANSELL LAID TO REST

Following an inquest conducted on Friday last before Coroner F. J.
Turner, which returned a verdict of accidental death, the remains of John Mansell, 60, who was killed by a fall of rock in the Hillcrest mine on Thursday afternoon of last week, were laid to rest in the Knights of Pythias plot in the Hillcrest cemetery on Wednesday afternoon.

To permit relatives coming in from a distance, it was necessary to hold the body over for six days.

Service was held at the K.P. hall at 2.30 under auspices of Turtle Mountain Lodge of the Knights of Pythias. The ritual officers were delivered by three past officers of the lodge, Bros. Hector McDonald, H.
Henderson and Joseph Atkinson. The funeral oration was delivered by Rev.
John Wood. A great concourse of citizens followed the remains to their last resting place.

The late Mr. Mansell was born in Staffordshire, England, and came to Canada quite a number of years ago.
A brother, who had also resided many years in Hillcrest, returned to the Old Country some two or three years ago.
Left to mourn are his wife and three daughters, Mrs. Waterhouse (Gladys), of Calgary; Mrs. L. Sher-rett (Dora), of Kirkland Lake, Ontario; and Mrs. Peter C. Montalbetti (Lillian), of Blairmore, all of whom were present.

Floral tributes were many and beautiful, testifying to the very high esteem in which deceased was held.
All places of business were closed for the two hours occupied by the last rites.

RADIUM FOR CANADA

Radium is now being produced in Canada on a regular production schedule. After years of research and chemical processing the Eldorado Refinery at Port Hope, Ont., have succeeded in their extraction methods that they are able to refine monthly an infinitesimal quantity. The story of Canada's great contribution to the world is told by J. A. Cowan, writing in the February issue of The C.I.L.
Oval. Pitchblende radium-bearing ore, mined on the fringe of the Arctic circle at Eldorado Gold Mines on the shores of Great Bear Lake, is shipped in special bags 3000 miles to the refinery where six tons of chemicals are required to refine one ton of ore, from which is extracted but a few milligrams of radium salts. Previous to the discovery of radium in Canada's great northwest the price of radium was $70,000 per gram, Canadian enterprise has now reduced this to around $30,000.

Fresh radium salts are sealed in a small glass tube no thicker than a match and are kept in holes drilled into a safe made from solid lead. The rays from radium continue for nearly 1,700 years and its most humanitarian use is in the treatment and cure of cancer.

Ed. F. Rahal, former resident of Blairmore, is renewing old acquaintances here this week.

Constable Klassen, R.C.M.P., returned Monday morning from Edmonton, where he had been to take a special two weeks' course of instruction. Const. Bryenton leaves for the Alberta capital this week and for a similar course of instruction.

Defaults of 352 Alberta school districts on debenture payments last year were disclosed in the annual report of the board of public utility commissioners tabled in the legislature Friday last. The amount involved in arrears was $216,912. The report shows that four villages, three towns and one municipal district defaulted on debenture payments. Total for the province in this respect was $267,311.

T. D. BUNCE DIES

Word was received on Tuesday stating that Thomas Dayalee Bunce, former resident of Lee Lake district, had passed away at Creston at the ripe age of 88 years.

Deceased homesteaded in the township of Woodlands, near Winnipeg, in 1872, and seven years later moved to Brandon. In 1885 he was in Calgary and saw service on the transport division during the Riel rebellion, following which he was one of the first policemen in Calgary. Leaving that city in 1892, he travelled by covered wagon to Couer D'Alene, Idaho, reaching there at the time of the big strike, and a year later moved on with his covered outfit to Yakima, Wash. In 1898 he again moved, this time his destination being Kalispell, Montana, where he remained until 1900, when he returned to Canada, taking up a homestead near the Parker ranch on Lee Lake by what has since been known as Bunce's Lake, where he remained until 1911, when he moved to the Creston district to take up permanent residence.

He was a native of Granville, Ontario, and is survived by his wife, three sons and five daughters.

The remains were laid to rest at Creston on Tuesday.

NOT SO EASY TO PAY

Canadian debts are again in the headlines. Both Manitoba and Saskatchewan have been having their difficulties, and Mr. Towers, the Governor of the Bank of Canada, has declared that Manitoba has done nothing further to bridge the gap between her interest charges and her payments. So the situation is openly declared to be serious, and Mr. King has announced that a Royal Commission will be appointed to investigate the whole problem raised by the position of the Western provinces. Mr. Towers, in writing to Premier Bracken, stressed the fact that only a comprehensive inquiry "into the financial powers and responsibilities of all our governing bodies" can offer any hope of solving the difficulties now facing various parts of Canada. Alberta has not been included in the promise of help, and Mr. Aberhart is crying out about "the forgotten province." The courts have now declared that his debt legislation, which put him in Ottawa's bad books, is invalid, and the ground seems to be cleared for a constructive and sympathetic approach to the financial problems of all the Prairie Provinces. And we must remember that the West is not alone in having cumbersome debts. There is always Montreal.—The New Outlook.

At a meeting of the board of the United church on Sunday evening last, Joseph B. Harner was elected lay delegate to represent the church at the Presbytery meeting in Macleod. Rev. A. E. Larke, pastor, would also attend.

Well, Alberta is under a sixty day moratorium. This has prompted the mortgage interests to submit a plan for handling Alberta's debt problem and their terms appear very reasonable. Let's get this thing fixed up right away so that farmers and others can get along with the season's business. Premier Aberhart apparently did not appreciate what a serious thing he was doing when he went abroad preaching this non-paying doctrine. It was positively cruel to tell people, as we heard them told right in Clearholm, that under Social Credit a person suffering from adverses would have his debts cancelled. We admit this has to be done in certain extenuating circumstances, but this cannot be accepted as a general principle. Now that both sides are down to earth, maybe something definite can be looked for in the line of a general settlement.—Clearholm Local Press.

TOWN COUNCIL NOTES

A meeting of the town council was held on Monday night, with Mayor
Williams and Councillors Peressini, Womersley and Olson present.

Minutes of previous meeting were approved as read.

A report was received from the relief committee and adopted.

A. J. Fortin, an out-of-town relief recipient, made application to the town for an increased allowance, claiming that $14.00 a month was not sufficient for a family of five to exist on.

Various other relief questions were dealt with.

A letter was received from the Union Tractor Company re the purchase of the crusher outfit. Motion that this be left with the 'property committee to deal with.

Letter received from Mr. Laikham Collins, accepting position as auditor.

An appointment to meet Mr. C.
May, town assessor, was taken in committee.

Accounts totalling $382.73 were passed for payment.

SUGGESTING A "QUIET TIME"

The Hainn-Herald has never been overly friendly to the Social Credit government of Alberta and some of our criticisms may have been overdrawn and too bitter. On this occasion we seek to offer constructive criticism, being obsessed by the idea that the premier is inclined to be more reasonable and conciliatory and less autocratic than in the past. After all, the welfare of Alberta is the objective of all loyal citizens. Surely we can discuss provincial politics on a higher plane!

We believe the time has come for compromise. Now that the court has declared the debt reduction legislation unconstitutional, we believe that the premier will be well-advised to approach the problem from another angle and seek some solution outside of arbitrary and unfair laws which lump all creditors in one lot and all debtors in another.

The premier, should he approach creditors in a conciliatory spirit, might find himself in a position in which the entire debt of the province could be refunded on a more reasonable basis and Alberta's credit re-established. The latter is a matter of more than passing moment. If there is to be any wide-scale building, for instance, credit must be obtained from some source. And that is but one instance.

Let the province put aside the question of Social Credit and dividends for the time being. Let friend and foe alike forget the matter. And let the government go ahead and put the province's finances in good shape.
After that, educational work can be done towards developing social credit plans and if the people are still susceptible they can be proceeded with.

The world is slowly improving in general condition. It will be just too bad if Alberta is left out of the procession. It is for that reason that we offer these suggestions. Continual political warfare will do Alberta infinite harm. Let there be a "quiet time" (in words of the Oxford Group)
and no stirring up of the people inflaming them one way or another.
The social credit plan involves taking over all the products, wages earnings, etc., and substituting provincial currency. Everyone who has studied the matter knows this to be true. And the premier, we suspect is inclined to believe that such a move would meet with ugly opposition. We agree with him. So let it be forgotten for the time and get along with other matters.

Put aside the fighting and battling with the newspapers, the insurance companies, the economic system and the opposition in general. Meet creditors face to face and give them a

THE MORTGAGE COMPANY'S OFFER OF INTEREST REDUCTION

Cancellation of interest arrears on farm mortgage loans prior to January 1st, 1935, in the drought area of Alberta is believed to be the feature of the debt reduction plan proposed to the Alberta government by reprefair proposition, and they surely will not be unreasonable. In this way the savings certificate mess, the one that hits Alberta people the worst, may be cleaned up.

Pass legislation aiding needy debtors,
but not those who can pay. Compromise can be effected in the needs cases, but the wealthy shirker should be made to come through.

Mr. Premier, you cannot battle forever. People cannot be kept up to a fighting pitch all the time. The fervor dies sooner or later. But you can do real constructive and useful work, if you will, and perform a real service for Alberta.—Hanna Herald.

SEE PROSPECT OF BALANCED BUDGET FOR NEXT YEAR

Ottawa.—The goal of a balanced budget in sight, Hon. C. A. Dunning submitted his annual financial statement and relied on the present tax structure to carry him through another year.

It was Mr. Dunning's third budget and he predicted a deficit next year of $35,000,000 with the prospect of a balanced budget the following year. His prediction was based on reduction in the deficit from $109,000,000 last year to $87,000,000 this year.

Government employees throughout the country learned the depression was over for them. Mr. Dunning announced the five per cent. deduction from civil servants' salaries would be restored from April 1, the start of the new fiscal year. At first the deduction was 10 per cent. but it was partly restored a year or two ago.

Throughout his three-hour speech, Mr. Dunning stressed satisfaction with improving economic conditions, expanding government revenues and mounting trade, but warned the problems created by the depression were still unsolved and new problems due to prosperity might be on the horizon.

Canada secured continued free entry into the United Kingdom on the products previously free, reductions in duty on silk stockings and guarantee against increase on motor cars. Concessions on bacon, cattle and beef, lumber and other products, provided in the former treaty are continued.

Changes made in the Canadian tariff, the minister said, constitute the most extensive downward revision of duties on United Kingdom products since the inception of the British preference.

An important tariff change outside the treaty provides for free entry of small personal gifts from all countries. Violins and other musical instruments more than 100 years old will also be admitted free of duty.

A new trade agreement with the United Kingdom provides the majority of the tariff changes in the budget. There were a few reductions and still fewer increases apart from the agreement which provided reduction on a wide range of articles under the British preferential rates.

The tax structure, however, remains unchanged for another year. Income, excise, sales and other levies remain at the levels fixed last year. The budget was the first since the beginning of the depression which has not contained some increase in taxation. The only changes are a few minor additions to the list of articles exempt from sales tax.

A year ago Mr. Dunning budgeted for a deficit of $100,000,000 and he took pride in the fact it was down to $87,000,000. A year ago, he said, he hoped he would be able this year to plan for a deficit of $50,000,000 in 1937-38 and a balanced budget the following year.

In view of the good showing in the present year, however, he felt safe in predicting total revenue of $485,000,000 and total expenditures of $520,000,000 for the year, or a deficit of $35,000,000. This would leave the cherished goal of a balanced budget within easy striking distance for 1938-39.

Mr. Dunning said he would be greatly disappointed if the deficit next year were not less than the deficit of the Canadian National Railways, which must be met by the treasury.

New Airdromes Planned

Cost Provided For in Estimates For National Defence

Ottawa.—Establishment of three airdromes was provided for in the national defence vote for air services considered in the House of Commons, Defence Minister Ian Mackenzie said. One airdrome would be in Dartmouth, N.S., and the others at points not yet decided upon. At least one would be on Vancouver Island.

It was proposed to bring the total strength of the air force, permanent and non-permanent, to 613 officers and 2,444 men. Of these the permanent force would include 195 officers and 1,498 airmen.

Queen Mary Shops Early
London.—Queen Mary may well be the Empire's earliest Christmas shopper. She ordered her Christmas cards at the British Industries Fair, which opened at the White City this month. She chose a garden scene.

Execute Ethiopian Leader

Son-in-Law Of Emperor Haile Selassie Slain By Italians

Rome.—Relief and rejoicing swept Italy in the aftermath of capture and execution of Ras Desta Denu, son-in-law and "last hope" of Emperor Haile Selassie.

Desta was tracked down in the region west of the southern Ethiopian lakes, his last column decimated and his sub-chieftains "liquidated." Taken with a few of his men, he was "turned immediately over to the firing squad," Viceroy Rodolfo Graziani informed Premier Mussolini.

Most newspapers devoted their front pages to the Desta's capture, for his activities and the bomb-throwing attempt on Graziani's life had instigated a feeling of uncertainty as to whether Ethiopia was "nine-tenths conquered," as officials insist.

Viceroy Graziani, proclaiming the Desta's capture as removing the last vestiges of organized resistance to Italian rule of Ethiopia, reported the chieftain had been taken.

Before that, the viceroy related, every effort had been made to get Desta to come over peacefully.

Test For Dog Racers

Eight Teams Will Compete In Farthest North Mushing Classic

Cameron Bay, Great Bear Lake, N.W.T.—Indian trappers, prospectors, mine managers and Royal Canadian Mounted Police who live along the coast of Great Bear Lake were prepared for the inaugural running of the Arctic dog derby.

At least eight teams will compete in the new and farthest north mushing classic over a 15-mile course on the ice of Great Bear Lake. The start will be at the Eldorado mine and a residence level bars dogs domiciled more than 50 miles south of the Arctic Circle.

Because of hard trails, glare and hummocked ice, experts expect the course one of the most gruelling tests of dog racing.

Among the contestants will be a 15-year-old Japanese boy named Morimoto, only known member of his race living in the Northwest Territories. Morimoto is an experienced driver, engaged in driving prospectors on swings around the coast. He runs seven Huskies.

Loyal To King George

Indian Princes Declare Fealty At Meeting Of Chamber

New Delhi.—The Chamber of Princes decided to send King George VI, a "profession of profound and steadfast loyalty to his person and the throne from all the ruling princes and chiefs of India."

Meeting to discuss the proposed all-India federation, the Chamber was addressed for the first time by the new viceroy, the Marquess of Linlithgow, who said he was encouraged by the response of the princes to his efforts to assist them to reach a decision on the proposed federation as soon as possible.

He admitted that conversations between his emissaries and the princes had thrown a light on many sides of the federation question but hoped that in the not distant future satisfactory conclusions could be reached. He stressed the importance of early decisions.

Ethiopians Executed

Strong Arm Methods Used To Quell Anti-Italian Outbreaks

Rome.—Machine gun outposts were strengthened at the Ethiopian city of Desaye to guard against further anti-Italian outbreaks while executions of Ethiopians found with arms continued apace in Addis Ababa.

The precautionary measures were taken in the face of assertions by Italian colonial officials the Fascists were undisputed masters of the Desaye region. They claimed, in fact, nine-tenths of Ethiopia was in Italy's grip and that she was rapidly occupying the remaining tenth.

Officials admitted, however, a column of 3,000 Ethiopians under Ras Desta Denu—Haile Selassie's son-in-law—had staged an attempt to drive the Italians out of Addis Ababa and had been defeated two or three days' march from the city.

Brave Boy Rewarded

Toronto.—John Kent, 11-year-old Chatham boy who risked his life February 9 in a futile effort to save the life of his dog, Snooty, from the Thames river, is to get a new dog. The Toronto Humane Society thinks so highly of John's rescue effort it is going to present him with a thoroughbred wirehaired fox terrier and a medal.

REALITIES MUST BE FACED IN BRITISH FOREIGN POLICY

London.—"Plain speaking" by Britain probably would convince the United States, dramatic neutrality legislation now under consideration at Washington, is doomed to failure, a Labor peer declared during a foreign policy debate in the house of lords.

"I do not suggest that we should interfere with America's domestic legislation," Lord Strabolgi said, "but this is a matter which affects the peace of the world. We've been thinking rather too much about Europe and not quite enough about the new world."

He urged the government to lay its cards on the table and discuss possible repercussions behind the neutrality bill pending in Washington.

"It is a mistake to suppose Americans only work on compulsion and flattery," Lord Strabolgi said. "I believe they are glad to have plain speaking. I think the time has come for some plain speaking with the United States and I believe you will get a favorable response."

Lord Arnold, also a Labor peer, opened debate with a warning "realities" must be the keystone of Britain's foreign policy. He attacked Britain's alignment with France and the latter's mutual assistance pact with Moscow.

The peace of western Europe can best be safeguarded by a treaty of mutual guarantee, on the lines of the Locarno pact but not necessarily identical with it, the Earl of Plymouth, under-secretary for foreign affairs, said as he wound up the debate for the government.

France and Belgium already had replied favorably on such a treaty, Lord Plymouth said, but no answers had been forthcoming from Germany and Italy. He expressed satisfaction the non-intervention committee which he heads had reached a solution whereby the Spanish civil war would be confined within the Iberian peninsula.

He said Britain intended to remain faithful to the League of Nations and its engagements with France and Belgium. Britain's rearmament was necessary for "our interests and responsibilities in Europe," he said, and would never be used for purposes inconsistent with the league covenant.

Lord Strabolgi said "the American senate is about to be invited to discuss legislation of far-reaching character connected with American neutrality in case of war in Europe or elsewhere. As far as I understand, the extreme view taken by certain senators is that should war or civil war break out anywhere, the United States is to sever all commerce altogether with both belligerents."

"Quite frankly, I think that policy will be found, in practice, to be utterly impracticable."

"I cannot see American business cutting off all their export trade merely because there is a war. 'Are we doing anything about that?' the peer then asked. 'I should have thought it perfectly proper of His Majesty's representative (Am-)

VISITS UNITED STATES

The recent visit to the United States of Walter Runciman, President of the British Board of Trade in connection with the long-pending trade agreement between the United States and Great Britain caused considerable interest.

Proceeding, he declared London's ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay to be discussing it with the American government.

Lord Arnold asserted Britain must open her eyes to the fact the League of Nations no longer can execute the obligations for which it was created. He cited the "absolutely illusory" character of collective security as a result of the hard realities of the international scene.

Proceeding, he declared London's alignment with Paris was tantamount to an alliance upon which the British people had not been consulted. The peer then attacked the Franco-Soviet pact as a permanent threat to European peace inconsistent with the league covenant and the Locarno treaty.

The ensuing debate featured Lord Mount Temple's insistence upon better treatment for Germany.

Three things could be accomplished if France were advised to abrogate her pact with the Soviet union, Lord Arnold declared. "First, there would be an enormous improvement in Anglo-German relations. Secondly, there would be a good prospect of peace being established in western Europe for at least 25 to 30 years, and, thirdly, there would be a big contribution to world settlement in European politics."

Protest From Postmen

Ottawa.—Protest against mail deliveries on Saturday afternoon and statutory holidays was made by the Canadian Postal Employees' Association during the annual three-day convention at Ottawa. The association also will ask for a return to the working-hour schedule in effect until 1932. Prior to that dated employees on nights worked seven hours.

Holds First Investiture

London.—The king held the first investiture of his reign at Buckingham palace, conferring insignia on 150 persons mentioned in the New Year's honors list. Following the investiture the king received in audience Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian high commissioner, and Captain H. F. C. Brookbank, secretary for mines.

PAINTING THE FLEET

The sailors with the British Home Fleet at Algiers know that Spring is here, because they have started to spring-clean. This picture, very much suggestive of flies around a jam pot, shows some of the boys on the H.M.S. Rodney giving the ship a new coat of paint.

U.S. Dust Problem

Dust Bowl Spreading Rapidly Across The Country

Oklahoma City.—Agriculturists marshalled here for a war against crop-killing wind erosion were told the "dust bowl" is spreading swiftly across the United States southwest, creeping eastward in Oklahoma at the rate of 30 miles a year.

Conferees were prepared to ask the federal government for aid because "the dust problem is too big for any one state to handle."

At Manhattan, Kas., Harry Unger, Kansas State college extension director, termed "absurd" any intimation that dust had destroyed the southwest's wheat-producing area.

Julian Tarrant, planning board erosion expert, said "7,000,000 acres of western Oklahoma land now is damaged seriously by wind erosion," while in 1935 about 2,000,000 acres were "completely ruined by the dust."

Safety For Flying

Northern Planes To Be Equipped With Two-Way Wireless

Edmonton.—Two-way voice wireless equipment probably will be installed by Royal Canadian Corps of Signals at Chipewyan, Alta., and Goldfields, Sask., early this spring in an effort to increase safety and accuracy in northern commercial flying. It was announced here by Major J. Genet. Chipewyan is about 375 miles northeast of Edmonton.

Many commercial planes operating out of Edmonton as well as R.C.C.S. stations at Fort McMurray, Alta., Fort Smith, N.W.T. and Fort Norman, N.W.T., have been equipped already with two-way voice apparatus.

GUARDIAN SAYS DIONNE QUINTS HAVE A FORTUNE

Toronto.—Hon. David A. Croll, who made the Dionne quintuplets virtually millionaires in two years, moved in the Ontario legislature to turn over his job as special guardian—or business manager—to a new hand. The change will take place April 30.

"The only fame which comes to the quintuplets' manager is something like the reflected glory enjoyed by a man whose husband," Mr. Croll explained, to the house which two years ago put him on the board of guardians as the king's representative.

"I have this much vanity—I prefer my work as administrator of the departments of welfare, labor and municipal affairs, rather than as contact man for five small girls, no matter how successful a one," he added.

He told the legislature his two-year stewardship brought the Cullander babies a fortune in money. He was glad to say Olivia Dionne, father of the quintuplets, who opposed the guardianship and its control over the children's affairs, finally has come to favor the arrangement.

Percy D. Wilson, Ontario's official guardian whose duties include administration of minors' estates, will succeed Mr. Croll on the board. Other members retain their positions. They are chairman, Judge J. A. Valin, North Bay; Dr. Allan Roy Dufoe and Olivia Dionne.

Announcing for the first time that the government and Mr. and Mrs. Dionne at last were in agreement upon the value of a guardianship, Mr. Croll said:

"There was at the time criticism of the method the government followed in the 1935 legislation. The parents in particular were inclined to regard the bill as a theft of their children. I am happy to say they have changed their opinion on this point. Mr. Dionne is to-day one of the keenest advocates of some form of continued governmental protection and assistance."

Covers Four-Year Period

Anglo-Canadian Trade Treaty Renewable After That Time

London.—The Daily Herald said it is understood the new Anglo-Canadian trade treaty will have a minimum of four years and that it is renewable at the end of that period.

The Financial Times, only newspaper to comment on the signing of the treaty, said British exporters are looking forward to numerous tariff reductions on finished goods and added: "It is fairly obvious that the Yorkshire woollen industry have been making a great effort to enlarge upon the concessions made in the 1935 (Canadian) budget."

BRITAIN HOPES TO SEE END OF THE ARMAMENT RACE

London.—Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in the House of Commons expressed his abhorrence of the business of rearmament by nations which more profitably might pursue peace.

"Even now," he said in moving second reading of the defence loans bill, "although the prospect may seem discouraging, I do not altogether despair of presently finding some new field in which fresh contact may be made, which would avoid the necessity of pursuit of this folly to the bitter end."

"Meantime we cannot afford to stay our hands until we are satisfied we have revised for the safety of the country and have put ourselves in a position to fulfil international obligations."

He declared the opposition had no grounds for the accusation that they did not know of the relations between the armament program and foreign policy.

As to charges the government was not preventing the skyrocketing of metal prices, the chancellor declared no phase of defence had received more attention.

Chamberlain said he doubted whether sufficient consideration had been given to the fact that in the last six years the government had built up its credit until it was "so solidly based that we can do with borrowing on a far larger scale than anything we contemplate."

Comparing the United Kingdom with the United States, the chancellor declared that in the United States "during the last six years the national debt increased by a sum exceeding $2,000,000,000."

"Nothing comparable to that burden has been imposed on us although it is true we have repeatedly suspended operation of the sinking fund," he went on. "I would remind the house that in three years, before this light, the figure of $1,500,000,000 alone, to be spent over five years, cannot really be supposed seriously as likely to upset our economy."

"The net income of this country is not less than $4,000,000,000. Surely in that light, the figure of $1,500,000,000 alone, to be spent over five years, cannot really be supposed seriously as likely to upset our economy."

Shell Hits British Ship

Spanish Anti-Aircraft Shell Falls On Battleship Royal Oak

London.—Explosion of a Spanish anti-aircraft shell square on the quarterdeck of the British battleship Royal Oak injured four officers and a seaman and aroused some concern lest other such "incidents" mar a six-power neutrality patrol of the Iberian peninsula.

The shell apparently came from a Spanish government anti-aircraft gun which was firing on the attacking planes. Captain T. B. Drew, three other officers and one seaman aboard the battleship were slightly hurt by shell splinters. None, it was announced, was "incapacitated." Later the battleship put out to sea.

Authorized sources said the government contemplated no protest, since the incident, technically speaking, was "more or less an act of God." They explained the Royal Oak was lying just outside Valencia harbor, and that there was, obviously, no Spanish intention to damage it.

Home Improvement Plan

Approve Principle Of No Increased Taxation On Improvements

Ottawa.—The national employment commission announced that the majority of provincial governments have indicated approval of the principle residential property assessments should not be increased because of ordinary home improvements under the home improvement plan or others of similar character done without its aid.

Arthur B. Purvis, commission chairman, letters to all provincial premiers stating success of the H.I.P. depended to some extent on recognition of this principle. He suggested certain lines of possible assistance which provincial governments might follow to ensure such home improvements be not used as bases for increased taxation.

Ontario, New Brunswick, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia sent favorable replies, while the other provinces have not signified their intention.

In the average civilized country today, every citizen is supposed to be entitled to equal rights. Premier Aberhart undertook the unusual when he advocated and asked for signatures to a covenant, which he claimed would entitle the signatories to a preference over others. Never in the history of the world has such a silly undertaking been recorded.

The Social Credit Government made a financial wreck out of Alberta and now Premier Aberhart complains that the Dominion Government will not help Alberta and are playing politics. Let him tell that to Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, and see how far he will get. Back East, they are not only disgusted, but are praying for the time Alberta will quit playing political tiddlewinks, and will return to sanity and fair dealing. ## The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Photographing Home Made Hollywood Miniature 'Sets'

This was not photographed in the wilderness but on a table top in the home of an amateur photographer. The "lake" is a mirror.

AS ALMOST every motion picture viewer knows, the Hollywood studios are continually fooling us these days with scenes photographed in miniature, such as a village street, a castle in Spain, a rural winter snow scene, a ship at sea, an airplane wreck and what not else. So cleverly are these miniature "sets" designed and photographed that in the picture their lack of reality defies detection, and when we are let in on the secret, we do not mind at all. Indeed we admire the achievement.

Have you ever tried creating miniature scenes yourself and photographing them with your own camera? It's fun. Depending upon your skill, artistic ability and the materials you employ, you may construct and photograph miniature sets in your own home that will rival the semblance of reality achieved in Hollywood; or, if you prefer, you may create scenes of fantasy, comedy or burlesque to compare with a "shot" in an animated cartoon.

For a "still" camera, this is really nothing else than table-top photography, such as has long been practiced by amateurs, but which now is photographically much easier for the amateur than it used to be, because of the recent introduction for home use of more powerful artificial lighting. At least for table-top photography you can get cheaply with two or three of these brighter home flood light bulbs rival the lighting equipment of Hollywood studios, and, what is more, do good work with an inexpensive fixed-focus camera, provided you use a portrait attachment to secure the necessary close-up focus.

In some cases, no one thing makes a greater coward of a man than debt.

The husband drew up a chair beside his wife's sewing machine the other day and remarked: "Don't you think it's running too fast? Look out, you'll sew the wrong seam! Slow

Constructing one of these sets requires, of course, a certain amount of time and patience, with the expense depending upon the materials you put into it. Very amusing scenes may be created, however, without introducing elaborate details. Here are a few suggestions for the materials:

White or light gray cardboard makes "sky"; a mirror makes a lake; twigs and small plants make trees and bushes; moss serves for grass; chalk, salt or flour for snow; toy automobiles, trains, boats, airplanes, houses, human and animal figures may be obtained at the five-and-dime store. If you are handy with tools, you can fashion various "props" yourself, using soft wood, or you can use plastic modeling materials.

A few points relative to the photography:

Working at close range, the depth of field of the lens is not likely to be great, so, in building your set, keep the elements within as short a distance, front to back, as possible. You get the best effects by using the lens at a small opening. Better make about three "shots" of a setting, varying the exposure time, to be sure of obtaining a perfect negative. Focus exactly.

You will have a lot of fun playing with the light. Sometimes a single strong flood light will give you what you want. Again, you may want one figure to stand out brilliantly with everything else subdued. For this a large piece of cardboard with a hole in it will provide a spotlight. Panchromatic film gives the best rendering.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Great Britain will greatly augment her fire-fighting forces as a precaution against incendiary air attacks, the House of Commons was informed.

The British labor minister decided to appoint a parliamentary committee to study a plan for making paid vacations mandatory for all British salaried workers.

Captain James Mollison plans to fly films of King George VI's coronation in May from London to New York, in a plane he built especially for him, it was reported in London.

Benito Mussolini, as minister of war, has ordered a test mobilization of more than 1,000,000 men within the next few months, an official communique announced.

Windsor, Ont., is expected to Windor, England, $256 toward erection of a memorial to King George V. In the English border. More than 17,000 citizens contributed to the donation.

Assurance of peace is needed for a lasting revival of world trade, Sir George Paish, British economist and international affairs expert, said in an address before the Montreal Canadian club.

Stephen Salter, of Hyde, Isle of Wight, has bought a new pair of boots as he enters on his 102nd day. He walks near his home every day. Once he was builder of the university racing "lights" of Oxford.

Tearing down an old log house on his Brookdale farm near London, Ont., Russell Hardie found a coin minted just 100 years ago, a half penny bank token issued by the province of Lower Canada.

A general labor shortage in the United States during 1940 was regarded as "highly probable" by the national industrial conference board, provided business activity continues increasing at a rate equal to that maintained between 1933 and 1936.

Willing To Make Trip

Women Pilots Would Fly Coronation Films To America

A special trans-Atlantic airplane flight is being planned in order to hasten delivery to North American motion-picture theatres of Coronation films.

Negotiations are proceeding with Amy Mollison, Beryl Markham and other distinguished pilots, to undertake a flight to New York, according to Sir Gordon Graft, general manager of the company which has been granted exclusive rights to film the coronation on May 12 (British Moritons News).

Copies of the films will also be despatched to North America on the dirigible Hindenburg, scheduled to leave Frankfurt, Germany, late on the day of the coronation. They will be flown to Frankfurt.

Mrs. Mollison and Mrs. Markham, both of whom have already conquered the North Atlantic by air, have indicated their willingness to attempt the flight, it was stated. Canada will receive its copies of the films from New York by fast service.

Took No Chances

Officers in San Antonio, Texas, found a mysterious bottle containing a yellowish fluid resembling nitroglycerin. Gingerly, Capt. Cliff Ramchisel, explosives expert, carried it 20 miles into the country and set it on a rock. Retiring a safe distance, he shattered the bottle with a shot. Further examination revealed the liquid was cough syrup.

On a clear day, an aviator 20 miles up can see objects 150 miles away.

Formic acid was made, at one time, by distilling red ants.

Unordered Merchandise

No Obligation On The Part Of Recipient To Return To Sender

Few persons have escaped the annoyance of receiving through the mails such articles as ties, socks, handkerchiefs and other merchandise which they have not ordered and had no intention of buying, but which they either pay for, go to the expense of returning or worry about. They need not do any of these things, according to the Toronto Better Business Bureau, which sends out a circular deploring the rudeness of this "racket" and advising the public how it may be disposed of. It seems the names of the victims are taken from telephone directories and the trade is well organized. It evidently succeeds to a profitable extent, or it would not be persisted in.

Now here is the cheering information supplied by the Toronto Better Business Bureau. There is no obligation, it says, to buy the merchandise, neither need it be returned to the sender, even when a stamped addressed container is enclosed. "If a qualified representative of the company calls for payment or to take back the goods, the citizen is entitled within his rights in demanding storage charges before turning the merchandise over to the agent," proceeds the statement. But the recipient of such goods is not entitled to appropriate them to his own use. He must, of course, "hold them for a reasonable length of time."

The co-operation of the public would soon put an end to the nuisance, which is so detrimental to legitimate business. It is an impertinence to force unwanted goods on an individual in this way and there is already so much literature of an importunate nature coming through the mails, that it is distasteful to contemplate the growth of this movement by which an attempt is made to disrupt the ordinary channels of trade. It can be immediately seen that the consequences of accepting such a method would be highly detrimental to the welfare of the community.—Hamilton Spectator.

New Scientific Discoveries

Mass Production Of Shoes That Really Fit Is Promised

Elimination of stinkiness in bread, improvement of mass-production shoes that really fit, and dental fillings that last, are among the new scientific discoveries described in the annual report of the department of scientific and industrial research in Britain.

The manner in which the quality of pork and bacon is linked with the growth and diet of pigs is also being studied. It has been found a rapid walk of a quarter of a mile makes the pigs' tissues more alkaline and this has been found of importance in dry salt curing.

Through a process of gas storage in an atmosphere containing oxygen and carbon dioxide, the luscious William pear, which remains in an eating-ripe condition only a few hours, can now be held in a marketable condition for weeks.

The Flour Millers' Research Association reports that what the housewife usually calls "staling" is due, as a rule, to poor keeping qualities of the bread. Investigations have shown bread made in the best possible way from the best flour will keep for 10 to 12 days.

Will Likely Be Smokeless

New Town Being Planned On Outskirts Of Liverpool

If present plans are carried out a new town to rise on the outskirts of Liverpool, England, will be free of smoke. It is to have 6,000 houses built at a cost of more than $5,000,000, and sites are to be left for three churches, a moving picture theatre, seven schools, two shopping centres, and a playground. It is proposed that the houses shall be electrically heated so that there will be no smoke to interfere with the airframe near at hand.

Enjoying Privacy

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh have completed their second year in England as refugees from the American tabloid and camera world. They have found the privilege of having private lives, an experience no longer allowed in America, quite enjoyable, says the New York Sun.

The government of Northern Ireland has guaranteed $1,000,000 toward the cost of constructing and equipping the new aircraft factory at Belfast.

A "cat" coin is made by pouring molten metal between two molds; a "struck" coin is stamped out of a blank of gold, silver, nickel or copper bronze.

Canada's Radium Industry

Is Now Established On A Regular Production Basis

Discovery of important deposits of pitchblende, the chief commercial ore of radium, associated with rich silver ore was made at Great Bear Lake, Northwest Territories, in 1930, but it was not until the latter part of 1936 that development and research had reached a point at which it could be stated with assurance that radium as a Canadian industry was established on a regular production basis. To obtain this status much progress had first to be made in four separate fields: mining, transportation, refining and marketing.

In 1931, 20 tons of high-grade material from Great Bear Lake was shipped to the Mines Branch Laboratories for experimental purposes, and the results obtained in the treatment of this trial shipment were so successful that a commercial plant for the production of radium salts was established at Port Hope, Ontario.

With the mine at Great Bear Lake and the refinery at Port Hope, more than 3,000 miles apart, the task of bringing the ore from the mine to the refinery presented a difficult situation, especially as the mine is located 1,450 miles beyond the end of the railway line. By means of the navigable waters of the Mackenzie River system and efficient economical air service it is now possible to freight concentrates out and equipment in between the railroad at Waterways, in Northern Alberta, to the dock only a few feet from the mine-shaft.

By October, 1936, Canada's radium production reached two grams monthly for the first time and on November 10 production of the first ounce (28 grams) was completed.

Futility Of Gas Masks

Scientists Make Tests Of Anti-Gas Precautions

A group of skeptical Cambridge scientists have splashed the first cold water on Britain's new enthusiasm for anti-gas and anti-air raid precautions.

Scuffling at patriots who pass around gas masks at tea parties, the scientists published a book on experiments they conducted to test the home office's suggested safeguards.

They declare:

1. An average person could remain in the ordinary domestic gas-proof chamber only about three hours.
2. If the room were made "gas-tight" it would be too small to live in for 12 hours.
3. The gas mask will give only a limited amount of protection, and that only to healthy adults with cool heads.
4. The cost of making buildings impervious by incendiary bombs is prohibitive.

The dooming scientists also censured the government's plan to protect children, contending the "gas-proof" baby carriage has the same limitations as the "gas-proof" room. The "gas-proof" room suggestion by the home office was tested by two volunteer debunkers. They released deadly carbon monoxide in a "gas-proof" room and found the fumes leaked out so fast they did no harm. Hence, they figured, gas fumes would leak in just as fast.

Smoking cayenne pepper in a closed garage helped challenge the infallibility of gas masks. A masked volunteer coughed when he stood within a foot of the smoking pepper.

A crude experimental bomb was found to burn through a layer of sand and a thick table in 30 seconds.

Doctors Are Puzzled

Strange Case At Worthing, England, Is Something New

A ten-year-old boy, strong and healthy, walks daily to school at Worthing, England.

He is intelligent, able to read and write.

And the moment he arrives at school he is unable to talk, read or write.

Doctors are puzzled. They have never before heard of such a case. For certain reasons the boy's name has been kept secret.

So interesting is his case that Worthing Town Council have made a fund of £150 to help in the search for a cure.

One theory is that early in his life the boy received a shock which is now responsible for this nervous disease.

An important point to remember is that it is not for want of trying that the child is unable—when he arrives at school—to talk, read, or write.

It has been estimated that World War pensions will last at least 100 years.

Too Much Visiting

Some Authorities Think Hospital Patients Not Kept Quiet Enough

Some authorities on the subject of treating the ill are of the opinion that there is too much visiting permitted by hospitals. Some individuals cannot restrain their curiosity when a friend is removed to the hospital. The occasion is made a sort of gala one for an orgy of visiting and many a patient has suffered from the excitement and nervous tension caused by seeing and trying to talk to relatives and friends while suffering from a malady that demands hospital treatment.

In most cases of illness, quiet and respite from exertion is requisite to recovery. Where an excess of visiting is permitted, no such outcome is possible. It is surprising that more thought concerning that factor is not given by hospital authorities, doctors and nurses.—Sarnia Canadian Observer.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MARCH 7
LIFE HERE AND HEREAFTER THROUGH CHRIST

Golden Text: I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no one cometh unto the Father, but by me. John 14:6.
Lesson: John 14:1-15:27.
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 3:14-21.

Explanations And Comments

Christ the Consoler, verse 1. The disciples were a "sorrowful little band" facing an hour of darkness that they could not understand.—"their hearts failed them as they approached the last crisis in their master's life." "Let not your heart be troubled," let not trouble have dominion over you, lovingly Jesus counseled them: "believe in God, believe also in me." It was faith in the Father that kept Jesus serene and peaceful so near his end and faith in the Father and the Son would uphold the disciples in that terrible time.

Here lies the secret of an untroubled heart in the midst of troubled circumstances—faith in the Father and the Son. Not a nominal faith in the existence of God, but an active, overmastering belief in His goodness and wisdom, and in His overruling all things for good, will keep the heart from despair in times of storm and stress.

Christ's Words about Heaven, verses 2 and 3. In my Father's house are many mansions. Our word mansion meant originally a place of shelter, and the margin of the Revised Version has the translation, "abiding places."

If it were not so I would have told you (that your hope might not be in vain).

"Faith, Hope and Love were questioned what they thought of future glory which religion taught."

Now Faith believed it to be firm, true.

And Hope expected so to find it, too.

Love answered, smiling with unconscious glow, "Believe? Expect? I know it to be so."

"He that hath seen me hath seen the Father," Jesus then solemnly affirmed. "My words and works are many mansions. Our word mansion meant originally a place of shelter, and the margin of the Revised Version has the translation, 'abiding places.'"

She dresses for her work in a blue jersey and overalls. It is her task to start, stop and manoeuvre the ship. She also helps to pull in the nets. She admits that it is a hard life for a girl, but she much prefers it to housework.

Ohio Flood Took Plane And Brought Back Another

The Ohio River flood took Finley Johnson's plane away—but it brought him another just as good.

Finley's home is in the Birds Point-Near Madrid roadway. When the basin was inundated his plane started floating around and spreading general havoc, so "I opened the doors, moved the piano out and saw it float away," he said.

"When I returned to my home I found another piano had floated in through the open doors during the flood."

Want Town Renamed

People Of Washington Town Think Present Name Unsuitable

The populace of Scantycree, Washington, has gone dignified. Citizens are tired of being "Scantycreegers," and, furthermore, they believe the name of their community no longer is accurately descriptive. So they have petitioned county commissioners to rename the town "Delameter." The region won its name half a century ago because fat was so scarce housewives used turkeys to grease the frying pans.

Gardening

Informal planting, say the experts, is the most suitable for the average flower garden. True, it is possible to do something with straight, dignified rows and borders. But in the average case planning irregularly, giving even tiny backyard gardens the appearance of much larger affairs.

Wherever possible there should be a bit of lawn in the foreground, with an irregularly shaped bed of flowers around the edges and, possibly, groups of shrubs at the corners. Screening of harsh, straight lines about the house and drives with clumps of flowers and shrubs and an occasional trailing vine over a window or terrace will bring the whole thing together. It will give the home the appearance of being part of the landscape rather than some rigid affair sticking out of the earth.

Vegetables, on the other hand, should be planted in straight rows, with a liberal use of some of the new things, and by adopting the rule to make at least three sowings of each variety a week or ten days apart, production can be materially increased. The big advantage of the vegetable garden right at the door is freshness, but to get full value in this respect it is important to have a new supply of seedlings frequently. Therefore, the modern gardener instead of planting all his plans, lettuce and so on, at the same day, puts some in the first week and more a little later.

Earlier Opening Date

Vessels May Use Hudson Bay Route From August Fifth

The Hudson Bay route to Churchill, Man., will be opened Aug. 5, this year, compared with Aug. 10 last year. The closing date without surcharge on insurance will be extended from Oct. 7 to Oct. 10. This was indicated in a reply tabled in the house to a question asked by W. A. Tucker (Lb. Rosthern).

The opening date will be subject to provision that no vessel may pass Cape Chidley between Aug. 5 and Aug. 10 until advised by patrol ship N. B. McLean that it is safe to do so. Vessels may use the route between Oct. 11 and 15 by paying a 25 per cent. insurance surcharge.

The reply explained the insurance rates on cargo was a matter of competition. Rates on ships using the Hudson Bay route to Churchill had been reduced (annually from 1930 to 1936 by strong representations from the Dominion government to the Imperial shipping committee.

The 1936 rates were approximately 1 1/2 per cent. above the St. Lawrence route. The government would continue to press for lower Hudson Bay rates, the ministry replied.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA CRAIG

CHAPTER XVIII.—Continued

The doctor smiled on her benignly. He had noticed her new wedding ring when she had stripped the gloves from her slender fingers.

"I had hoped you would come back . . . I have often wondered since what happened to you. However, judging by that"—he indicated her shining ring—"you evidently took what advice of mine you were able to get through your head. You've got your vital interest in life, it would appear; your saving interest."

Starr's head was in a whirl. She hardly dared to believe what her own ears heard, this wonder story that was coming so casually from the lips of the man who had so long believed had condemned her. She leaned forward, eyes pleading, her body tensed.

"You—you mean there's nothing the matter with me?" she asked through lips that quivered.

He smiled, and his shoulders shrugged carelessly. "Offhand, without any thorough examination, I would say that you are just about as normal as any young woman of your age. A little too thin, too pale, perhaps. Anemic. Or it could be from worry."

"He bent over his desk, looking her straight in the eyes, as his capable fingers tapped on his desk in emphasis. "Young lady, I don't know much about Egyptian history. I know less of this particular superstition that has been playing hob with you. But I do know that the most potent factor of any superstition is the effect it has on the mind of its victim. What, on the other hand, with all the strength that's in you, it's quite likely to come true. That's all there is to it, and in your case you were making it come true. Curse of Tut-Am-en-Ra—bunk!"

He said, in a still small voice of a miracle: "But my father? John Lesning? That—"

"That man who died on the night the tomb was opened—Lesning, did you say his name was?—died of a tropical fever which must have been coming on for some time, and would no doubt have taken him anyway, curse or no curse. Your father was an elderly man, a scholar of sedentary habits who could not stand much strenuous outdoor life. Moreover he had delved into Egyptian lore so long that it was inevitable it would have its effect on him. Superstition and grief over the death of his friend obsessed with the idea that he would be the next victim. He was the victim of his own terror. Something like that was happening to you, but you seem to have outgrown it to a great extent, if not entirely. Thank heaven for that!" He smiled again as he straightened up. "And see that you don't go on any more digging trips to Egypt."

"He was saying in a strange voice, "It was you all the time, Stephanie. How could I have been so blind?"

Starr's knees trembled weakly and the room blurred in odd dancing lights before her vision. She seemed clutching at the tapestry curtain for support. Too late! Of course, it had been Stephanie all the time. His affair with Starr had been an emotional episode. A mad play-acting which could never last. And in the few days of her absence he had come to realize it. He wanted Stephanie! Starr knew there was but one thing left for her to do now. She must run away again quickly—and silently. And then in that moment just before the tapestry curtain dropped over her still white face, Michael saw her. He cried her name indolently:

"Starr!"

In an instant all was confusion. Michael was at her side in two leaps. He picked her up and carried her into the living room. His arms were holding her. He was kissing her on lips and hair and eyes, starved kisses, as though he would never have enough.

Somehow, in the excitement, Stephanie had slipped away. Starr caught one glimpse of her flitting through the entry way before the outer door banged on her. Starr and her husband were alone. And Michael was saying:

"Stephanie has just confessed that she sent you those anonymous letters, darling. I made her come here to face me, to accuse her. I found one of them after you'd gone, and it wasn't hard when I finally got down to the thinking of it, it was Stephanie's fine Italian hand. . . . That came of a sudden, after I'd been trying to trace them for days. She wanted to break up our marriage, and she took a childish way of doing it, as children do as those acrobats of hers that looked like something Egyptian. She thought they would cover her up; that nobody would ever suspect her. I recognized them as tracing from rings she sometimes wears."

But, Starr, why did you run away? Nobody takes any notice of senseless poison pen letters."

Of course they don't, unless they have known the deadly fear under which Stephanie Ellison had so long lived! Stephanie never guessed at the coincidence her letters raised! Oh, Starr was going to have so young woman in a nurse's uniform: "These take Mrs. Fairbourne into the examination room, Miss Walker. I'll be with you presently."

It was a woman who felt as if she had been newly born into a world that was the epitome of joy and gladness who made her way through the busy city streets, headed for her own penthouse apartment. A woman with a golden opportunity racing through her veins. Her head was up proudly. Eyes and lips laughed their sheer joy into the face of the world that suddenly was a marvelously glad, happy place—all of it.

A miracle had happened. There might be those who would attempt to explain it away with prosaic words, but Starr Ellison Fairbourne knew that it was a miracle.

She was free! Free of the dread that for years had made life a nightmare. Free—and she was going to have a baby! Michael's child, and hers! She was going back to Michael.

It was all so joyous that not until she stood on the threshold of her home from which she had fled did she remember the circumstances of her leaving. She had only been thinking—how glad Michael would be to see her—how happy over the wonderful news she would bring him. Now she remembered. . . . Michael believed she had run away with Lance Marlowe. All during those days he had faced death alone in a somber New York rooming house he had believed that she was in Lance's arms.

Michael's alarm cast a darkening shadow across her excitement. She should have made some arrangement to let him know the truth before he saw her. She should have written him of what she had really done, let him know of the curse of Tut-Am-en-Ra and what it had so nearly done to her and to him. There was still to be explained those anonymous letters which had come. They were a greater mystery than ever, but somehow, they too, could be explained, she felt sure.

The great problem facing her was: How would Michael receive her? Would he and she ever be able to find understanding again?

Using her own key, Starr silently entered the pent-house apartment. And at the sight which met her eyes the very spirit seemed to leave her. Too late!

Michael was standing there in the centre of the long, low living room with Stephanie Dale. Both of his hands gripped Stephanie's shoulders; his eyes burned silently into hers.

He was saying in a strange voice, "It was you all the time, Stephanie. How could I have been so blind?"

Starr's knees trembled weakly and the room blurred in odd dancing lights before her vision. She seemed clutching at the tapestry curtain for support. Too late! ## How to EASE a COLD

1

TWO SIMPLE RULES

Instead of buying costly medicines for a cold, try the way almost any doctor you ask will approve as the modern way—"ASPIRIN."

The way you use it is this: Two "Aspirin" tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on, taken with a full glass of water. Repeat, if necessary, according to directions in package. If throat is sore, gargle with three "Aspirin" tablets in  $\frac{1}{2}$  glass of water for almost instant relief. "Aspirin" acts to fight fever, aches and pains of a cold and the cold itself. Relief comes quickly and you have wonderful comfort.

much to tell Michael, and how he would understand and pity her! How he would make it up to her! Much to tell, but a lifetime to tell it in Starr sighed happily.

Oh, the worry in Michael's dear, white face now, though! Worry over her, the wife he loved! His voice raved on:

"I caught Lance's boat before he sailed. He swore he hadn't seen you, and I believed him. I've searched every where for you, Starr, my own dear!"

Starr felt the sense of ineffable peace which only Michael's arms could bring, stealing through her body again. She was cuddled close against his breast. His lips brushed her hair.

She murmured: "There is such a lot to explain, Michael. I don't know where to begin."

Michael said: "Don't start just yet. I just want to hold you here, and make sure that you are mine, that you're real, and won't slip away from me again if I shut my eyes." Then he said what a moment before had been in her own mind. "We have a lifetime ahead of us for explanations, sweetheart!"

A lifetime ahead! The glory of it! Before Starr's eyes passed an imaginary parade. A parade of dream children, who now could be real. Sturdy little men with clear gray eyes like Michael's. Little girls—like herself!

Soviet Russia States She Will Adhere To The London Protocol

Soviet Russia notified Great Britain that she had adhered to the London protocol for humanizing submarine warfare, already signed by six European powers. Britain, the United States, France, Germany, Italy, and Japan previously had agreed to the protocol, under which submarines are obliged to place crew, passengers, and papers of merchant ships in a place of safety before sinking the vessels.

Coronation Broadcast

Not Merely The Empire, But The Whole World Will Listen In

Not merely the empire but the world will listen to the coronation ceremonies May 12 inside and outside Westminster Abbey. This, the first coronation to be broadcast, will reach out in English and foreign tongues from a battery of 50 microphones.

The earl marshal is considering the feasibility of setting up television machinery in the abbey for the actual coronation. In any event Sir Stephen Tallents, of the British Broadcasting commission, hopes and expects the outside processions will be caught on the wireless screen in their full panoply.

King George VI. will likely conclude the momentous day with a personal message to his subjects. This will probably be delivered at 8:00 p.m., G.M.T. (1 p.m., M.S.T.).

Twenty microphones will be everywhere in the abbey itself so every audible detail of the service will be caught. Along the route microphones will be placed at strategic points and trained observers will describe the passing scenes.

The coronation day broadcast will probably start about 10:15 a.m., G.M.T. (the procession times are estimated on the basis of precedent) when the procession begins from Buckingham palace to the abbey. And the abbey broadcast is likely to last from 11:15 a.m. until 2:15 p.m.

Immediately following the service there may be a break until the return procession begins at about 5 p.m., but this lapse is not definitely settled yet. The return procession will be covered with even greater thoroughness, the scenes at Trafalgar Square, St. James's palace and Oxford Circus to be given special attention.

The evening's schedule includes a program at 6:30 p.m. entitled "The Empire's Homage," which will link up as many parts of the empire as possible and which will be featured by individual messages of loyalty from each dominion and colony. This will conclude with a greeting from the United Kingdom spokesman, perhaps Prime Minister Baldwin, and then His Majesty will probably speak.

Sounds Like Fish Story

Superintendent of Aquarium Says Fish Sleep When They Sleep

Fish do sleep, and some "more." F. A. Potter, superintendent of Honolulu's tropic fish aquarium, is authority for the first statement. He isn't certain about the sleeping, but John Kila Nahaoluhi, Hawaiian fisherman, will vouch for it.

"When we are torch fishing at night we sometimes can't see the fish we can see him sleeping," said Nahaoluhi. "He sounds like a man. We follow the sound, and find the fish sleeping peacefully on the bottom of the sea."

Others who make their livelihood by spearing fish along coral reefs surrounding Hawaiian islands verify the noisiness of sleeping fish.

A tiny fish that gained fame in popular song, definitely "goes to bed" at night, reports Potter.

may be a convenient rock on which the brilliantly colored little fish may lean, or under which it may find a sheltered spot. Trigger fish and hinalaeolu, a common inhabitant of the reefs, often burrows deep into sand as night comes.

Big parrot fish have a peculiar custom, at least in their Honolulu aquarium tanks. They blow a "bubble" consisting of tenuous material resembling a cobweb, and use it as a sleeping bag, Potter noted.

Some fish apparently never rest. Uluia and other game fish apparently are ready to gobble a meal at any time, and remain in almost constant motion.

Many are capable of making strange sounds, various authorities say. "Grunts" are common in the Atlantic and gain their name from the croaking noises they emit when taken from the water. Trigger fish in Hawaii make "whooshing" sounds.

Trumpet fish, according to one listener, have been heard "talking" in thin strains, "tells like in quality." This same expert, writing in "The National Geographical Magazine," reported hearing the "whoop-whoop" of schools of sea drums darting beneath an anchored canoe on a quiet night.

Little Helps For This Week

The kingdom of God is within you. Luke 17:21.

Lord, take this heart that I would give. Forever to be all Thine own: I to myself no more would live. Come Lord, be Thou my King alone.

The work assigned to the individual soul is to have life in itself, to make its own sphere, whatever it is, sufficient for a reign of God within itself, thankful if with the place and companionship given to us we are permitted to build an earthly home of grace and goodness, a home like a temple. But if this should be denied us then we may be able to build a home where God shall reign for ourselves at least, that we shall not break with our wills, and whether joyful or struggling with perplexity we shall know His will is law and submission will ever spring from communion of spirit and loving trust.

An Unusual Menu

Food Was Flown More Than 1,700 Miles For Dinner Guests

To eat a dinner, all the nine courses of which had been flown more than 1,700 miles to them, has been the experience of 20 men in Sydney, Australia.

It was given by A. Macalister Blain, member of parliament, on behalf of his constituents of the vast, almost unoccupied Northern Territory of Australia, as a demonstration of what could be produced there.

The courses were oysters, real kangaroo-tail soup, barramundi (an excellent fish from the River), roast beef, buffalo tongue enriched with wild pig, goose and "blackbird" duck, tropical fruit, coffee grown on the Adelaide River and ground nuts from Daly Waters.

The toast was "The Territory." "May it cease to be the danger spot for any nation but Australia," said Mr. Blain. "Aerial transport and dry ice will solve its problems," he declared.

Another speaker warned the diners that, to-day, there were more Japanese fishermen, with military training, off the coast of North Australia, than there were white men.—Australian Press Bureau.

Mystery In Numbers

Analysis Is Sometimes Interesting If One Knows How

So far, 1937 seems to have defied analysis. There is, indeed a concealed thirteen in it, and—for whatever it may forebode—the sum of the first half is equal to the sum of the second half. What is obviously more alarming is that it is divisible by 13, and so has not even the virginal merit of a prime number. But one never knows what mysteries lie behind apparently innocent numbers. Sir Gwladys Hopkins said recently that physics was haunted by the number 137. And Professor G. H. Hardy tells of a visit he paid to an ailing mathematician, mentioning casually that the number of his last was 1729—"which seems to me rather a dull one." "On the contrary," was the reply, "it was a very interesting one: it is the smallest number expressible as a sum of two cubes in two different ways."—London Observer.
